PROJECTS

Emotion Mapping Based Facial Expression Using Machine Learning :

Technologies Used : Python

This project focuses on detecting and classifying human emotions through facial expressions using machine learning. By applying computer vision techniques to extract facial features and using a Convolutional Neural Network (CNN) model trained on datasets, the system can identify emotions such as happiness, sadness, anger, and surprise etc. The goal is to enhance human-computer interaction by enabling machines to recognize and respond to human emotional states in real time.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

- Awarded a certificate from INTERNSHALA for completing training on Embedded system.
